Notebooks & Textbooks

$33 each child

Many children in rural communities do not have the basic stationeries such as notebooks and textbooks to go to school. Your gift of notebooks and textbooks will help children develop interest in studies. This will go a long way in ensuring that eager learners will attend school regularly, learn properly and dream their way to a bright future.

$100 will provide 3 children with school books for the whole year.

Blankets & Mosquito Nets

$35 each

Warmth at Night. Your gift of $5 for a blanket will provide much-needed comfort and protection against the harsh, winter elements. On those blustery winter nights, who doesn't like to curl up under a warm, soft blanket? But often, only a thin sheet shelters poor families in Asia from the cold. These nets offer protection from the sting of an infected mosquito and help to give their owner a restful nights sleep. Most households need several nets to protect everyone in the family. Save them from sickening agony or death from malaria for $30.

Education for one child

$180 per year

Many children chased away from school because they didn't have school fees or books or uniforms.

You can help an Indian village child to receive a good education. Your gift $180 can help 1 child entire year. to pay good English school fees or provide essentials like uniforms, textbooks and school supplies. You can help children reconnect with their spiritual heritage after decades of religious persecution in India.

Lanterns

$25 to send light to India.

Electricity is a rare commodity in many Indian villages. But a simple kerosene lantern will light up the room of their small homes. They are also used by missionaries travelling from village to village at night.

Built Missionary Tough. Help missionaries reach thousands of remote villages with the use of a durable, off road Missionary vehicle. For most GKM-supported missionaries, this is life. But an entire native missionary team and all of its valuable equipment can travel to several far-flung villages a day with a sturdy vehicle. That could become several hundred villages a year!

Rebuild a worship center

For Indian believers a church is much more than a building. It is a shelter in which to worship Jesus. A church building provides a place for individuals to come for prayer and even serves as a classroom for women's literacy lessons!
